HITCH's firm but soft and flexible poly/ponte fabric featured in black on silver creates a modern & feminine silhouette. Original artwork displays youthful confidence and artistic freedom. HITCH personifies the urban professional tomgirl who works hard by week and plays harder by weekend. By late Thursday she's ready to ditch the job and hitch a ride to the biggest and baddest slope she can find.

Fabric content: Multi-directional, black ponte 60% rayon 37% nylon, 3% spandex; silver ponte 65% rayon 30% nylon, 5% spandex; screen print, YKK black zip

Through color disparities and overlays, the design of ST. ANTON weighs the gemütlichkeit of the Austrian people with their practical and definitive nature. The shoulder lace overlay makes sure comfort isn't compromised for aesthetics, but rather play together.

Fabric content: Raglan sleeve, multi-directional, violet/black 65% rayon 30% nylon, 5% spandex; violet lace overlay 90% poly, 10 spandex

MERIBEL's 1992 women's Olympic downhill course deserved ladylike respect but was punctuated with dangerous jumps and gritty turns. Just like this garment: a perfectly durable, warm tailored, disciplined bodice, thanks to Ponte De Roma's double knit elastic weave, interrupted by raven's black edgy faux leather cuffs and gussets.

Fabric content: Multi-directional, ponte de roma charcoal 65% rayon 30% nylon, 5% spandex; raven black cuff/gussets nylon/spandex; silver zip

As a former Olympic skier, you'll notice that most of the tops pay homage to some of my favorite ski trails around the world. But CHOCOLATE ROSE doesn't. Instead, underneath CHOCOLATE ROSE's sexy lace lies a cozy micro nylon fabric- just the right blend of textiles to make you feel feminine on the outside while warm and happy on the inside.

Fabric content: Multi-directional: heather gray supplex 85% micro nylon, 15% spandex; black stretch rose lace overlay 90% nylon, 10% spandex

JEWITT was named after one of my favorite childhood ski runs at Bousquet ski resort. Very 1960's British Mod, JEWITT has an elegant and simple black bodice marked with beefy striped cuffs, collar and tapered hem to keep the wind and snow drafts away. The long curved side style lines create a slimming look as well as a tailored and shaping fit.

Fabric content: Multi-directional: black 65% rayon 30% nylon, 5% spandex; printed black/red supplex cuffs & hem 90% Nylon, 10% Spandex

GENTIANES is the name of a long, undulating and carefree run 8947 feet nestled high above Lake Geneva in the Swiss Alps. A wild alpine trumpet shaped flower, the GENTIANES live primarily in this wild world. European governments often prohibit their picking and plucking. This fashion forward number with its tar black faux leather side gussets, racer stripes lined all over the bodice, pitch-black collar and cuffs and licorice pouch, may prove too wild for the city slicker gone skiing.

Fabric content: Multi-directional: heather gray supplex 85% micro nylon, 15% spandex; raven black stripes/gussets/collar/pouch nylon/spandex

KIMBERLEY is named after the twin I didn't know I had until my 2-week birthday. I was discharged from my very plush and peaceful albeit sterile incubator only to arrive 'home' to a noisy, chubby twin who realized that life with me would have to be shared and full of escapades and mischief- something she could've done without. So after subjecting her to a long life of capers, KIMBERLEY is being unveiled in her honor. She loves light blue and looks equally beautiful in it. And so will you. It's elegant and light blue with hints of snow-white under arm. The snow-white long curved gussets, chunky cuffs, tapered bottom hem (to keep those wind drafts away) and high signature collar create a slimming look as well as a tailored and shaping fit.

Fabric content: Multi-directional: It blue/white 65% rayon 30% nylon, 5% spandex

SOELDEN is named after the early season World Cup GS in Soelden, Austria that Ted Ligety keeps winning. It's icy, shady and steep. This top means business, just like the slope and Ligety.

Fabric content: Multi-directional: black/silver 65% rayon 30% nylon, 5% spandex

What woman doesn't look great in black? BLACKIE is SAVINE's winter wardrobe luxury essential. The only adornment on this simple 'LBT' (little black top) is the subtle double white stitching along the cuffs and bottom hem.

Fabric content: Raglan sleeve, multi-directional black 65% rayon 30% nylon, 5% spandex
